At the annual meeting of Alhambra Temple Mystic Shrine held in the Masonic Temple Friday evening. George E. MacKenney was elected illustrious potentate, succeding James H. Anderson, whose term of office expired with the meeting. Charles Watson was elected chief rabban, with J. C. Richards as assistant rabban. Other officers elected were Rev. Claude E. Hill, high priest and prophet; Henry Bond, oriental guide; D. George Morgan, treasurer, and W. C. Johnson, recorder.

The election of four representatives of the imperial council, proved one of the meet interesting features. Seven ominations were made and the election of the following helms.

Anderson.

For directors for the Alhambra Temple Mosque ecrporation to serve for a period of three years, the following were elected: W. H. Sears, George E. MacKenney, Charles Rosenthal.

Reports of officers showed that the year had been a very active as well as prosperous one for the temple. The announcement that the organization now owned real estate valued at more than $30.000 and equipment to an amount almost as great, brought forth applause from those present. The report, as made by George M. Clark auditor, was not only complete, but carried with it a number of recommendations which were adopted.

At the close of the meetipg resolutions were adopted indorsing John S. Fouche as Alhambra temple's candidate for the office of imperial outer guardian of the imperial council. Noble Fouche's name was presented at the meting of the imperial council at Portland, Ore, in June of this year, on which occasion he ran second in the field of eight.

Since that splendid showing, which was considered unusual, a number of temples throughout the country have through their leading members, indicated that they would be behind Mr. Fouche to the limit at the next meeting of the imperial council. It is the general opinion of the nobility of the southern states that Noble Fouche will be elected to the office of imperial outer guard at the meeting to be held in Savannah during June of this year. n Savannah during June of this The next big affair of Alba

Local Manufacturer Preaches "Golden Rule" at Annual Meeting Friday Night.

HEADS PLEASED CHICAGO BY DETECTIVE

O. T. Andrews, well-known local manufacturer and president of the Civi-tan club, was the chief speaker at the annual meeting of the l'ainters' and I aperhangers' union No. 226, held at Atianta Sleuth Reports He vana, Cuba.

11. W. Callender local automotive dealer, formerly connected with the Callender Car company, returned to Chattanooga Thursday night accompanied by his wife. Mr. Callender declined to be seen by a reporter Satur.

panied by his wife. Mr. Callender de-clined to be seen by a reporter Satur-day, but an account of his pligrimage has been received from Atlanta. Mr. Callender disappeared in Atlanta about four months ago with something like $5,000 on his person. Foul play was at that time believed to have been the cause of his continued absence. The account received from Atlanta Mr. Andrews, in his talk, which was upon the line of the Golden Rule, approved the eight-hour day, the minimum wage scale and many other things organized labor has been working for, mentioning safety appliances, improved working conditions and the taking of children from the mills and factories. The account received from Atlanta as follows:
"Henry W. Callender, wealthy Chat-

day night by agents of the Adams National Defective agency, it was announced Friday in the offices of the agency.

"Callender had come to Atlanta from Chattanooga to buy automobiles. W"T. Gloer, head of the Adams Detective agency, was employed by Mrs. Callender to search for him.

"Callender was trailed first to Macon, and then to Savannah, where the body of a man, found in the river, was for some time believed to be his. The trail later was picked up in Havana, just after Callender had sailed for Hailfax. On tanding in Hailfax, he went to Chicago, where Mr. Gloer had made arrangements for his wife to meet him.

"Domestic trouble was said to have been the cause of the disappearance, which, according to a wire from Mrs. Callender to Mr. Gloer, has been adjusted."

According to unlon officials, the meeting was just the sort of a conference with the sering to convince employers are necessary for the adjustment of present difficulties between labor and capital to "st down in conference with the trades union organizations many of our present troubles, real or fancied, would exaporate into the air, according to R. M. Cooke, president of the Trades and Labor council, who was one of the speakers. The meeting was attended by more than 100 laboring men.

Mr. Andrews began his remarks by saying that when he was first asked to speak before the union he hesitated." I told myself this," he said. "that when jou go before those men they want your views on capital and labor. But on second thought, I came to the conclusion that this idea was a continuation of the Golden Rule dinner here several weeks ago, and I consented to come."

Faces Lonely Christmas With

No Holiday Viands.

An aged woman of Chattanooga has written The News a letter setting forth in simple form her prospects of a lonely Christmas, without any of the holiday joys, not even a Christmas dinner. The old lady says she is 86 years of age. Perhaps the letter was sent knowing that other letters printed this glad season have already stirred hearis to set that their appeal was answered. It is the child's letter to Santa Claus that most often is touching, but nothing is more pitiful than forsaken and poyerty-stricken old age. The old woman's letter in its exact words is given below:

"We are, at my factory turning dozens of men away daily in search of work. The manufacturer has made enough macross the shoals, but there are workingmen who have not this comforting situation to carry them through.

"We've had enough labor against the collidary in minded against labor. While a contract is signed with the employer gat and employe, and the employer gat in a tight fix, it is unfair to tabor. "When you reach this point that you consider capital a pretty decent fellow, and capital regards labor as a pretty decent fellow, and govern themselves according to this belief, you pretty nearly have the tiolden Rule. Continue your unions and continue your fights. Christ was crucified 2,000 years ago to save the world and it isn't saved yet. The start has got to be made. Drive out your unreasonable men, for there is now, it appears, a rift in the clouds. You have seen the rift by your action tonight. I hope others will take the cue and push the movement forward. I hope the time will come when we all can sit down together and discuss our problems without a crowd of detectives hanging around guarding each of us."

extensive buyers. Millions in this country have bought relatively little sugar, either when the prices became exorbitant or stice the decline began. They are also hoping for lower prices. But buying in this country cannot be much longer delayed, and as 1 say, when the demand again becomes active, prices are certain to show firmness.

Nor can the stagnation in South America continue very long. There will surely come a resumption of busi-ness, although on a different scale of ness, although on a different scale of prices.

Brazil's financial condition has governed the state of the coffee market. Only recently Brazil authorized $8,000.000 more paper currency, setting exchange against the country more than ever before, and thus reacting on the price of coffee in outside markets. The premium which has been brought about on the American dollar has, indeed, interfered with business to a very great extent between us and almost all Central and South American countries. Although they are all on a gold basis except Brazil, obstacles have been placed against gold shipments. As they are all heavy exporting countries. If they would only allow gold to be exported now it would all flow back to them at the end of their crop season.

Heavy losses will be austained in all those Latin-American countries when they find themselves forced to dispose of their new crops on an entirely different lusis, while the losses will be still more severe in the case of those who have withheld their old crops from the market. All these countries over-imparted. A great many cancellations followed, and those goods are still the property of Americans, who are thus unable to get their money and are practically unable to find any marlantic, we must keep our minds on the power of Europe to throw manufactured goods into this country. Our imports have increased and are going to increase. As long as rates of exchange are at the present levels there is great opportunity for Europe to dump her surplus over here, or into countries certainly going into South America and the far east, within the next six months at prices which will not be able to meet. Where raw material has to be bought from us, presumably Europe will not be able to compete because it will have to pay the high exchange premium to get the raw material. But where raw materials are length from to the changed conditions, just as business finds itself obliged to adjust itself. Whether wise counsels will prevail among labor leaders, permitting the adjustments to be effected smoothly, or whether disturbances will be incited, remains to be seen. Judging from recent conferences held by the chief labor leaders, they are alive to the facts of the situation, and their soliciting the advice of a man like Mr. Hoover encourages the hope that labor will follow a rational, sensible course.

The end of the year may bring quite a few failures, although probably few of very great mugnitude. After these are out of the way and the year-end settlements have been made, the way will be paved for the savent of sounder, more normal conditions. I look for enough buying to start moderate business activity, and this activity will be healthler than before, for merchants and manufacturers will not have the feeling, which they had when prices were abnormal, that they are sitting on a valuance.

tions of business and its nearby future would be complete without a word on taxation. When prices were high and markins of profits wide, the effect on business of the existing system of taxation was not serious, but with lower prices and restricted volume of output a narrowing of the margin of profit is natural and certain. It is then that men will consider whether the incentive to effect economy in operation in order to be successful is propely compensated when success is measured by consider to the success of taxation and deorder to be successful is propely com-pensated when success is measured by increasing rates of taxation and de-creasing percentage of profit. In my opinion, there can be no return of real prosperty in this country until our whole system of taxation is revised and private initiative and incentive to progress is encouraged and discour-aged, as at present.

Newspaper Men Urge Public Not to Disappoint Any Needy Children.

Needy Children.

It was thought by the newspaper reporters of Chattanoga that sufficient funds would be on hand today to be able to close the subscription list and not ceal on the public for any more contributions. However, Treasurer D. S. Henderson was very much disaminated with the returns that came in this morning, the total receipts not being as large as was expected.

Chairman Curtis therefore announced that it would be necessary either to curtail some of the plans as already arranged for on the budget for the 3,000 moor children, or keep the subscription list onen next week. Subscriptions will therefore be taken for the Qind by Mr. Henderson during the first part of the week.

Approximately $500 is yet needed before the plans as have been arranged can be carried out. So if you do not send in your subscription some little etcl or boy who has been looking forward to a real Santa Claus this year will probably be disappointed. The newspaper reporters do not have the lime to get out and make a thorough canvars of the city; for this reason those who have not received a letter or who have not been called upon by a reporter and asked to contribute to this fund, should not feel slighted, but on the other hand they are earnestly urged to accept the appeals made through the daily papers as a personal one and mail a check for whatever mount they feel they should, direct to Mr. Henderson, care of the Hamilton National bank.
